

Donations are bountiful at 'Serenade to Autumn'

"Serenade to Autumn," the Junior Woman's Club of Charlotte's annual fund-raiser, netted more than $50,000 Sept. 20 in the North Carolina Blumenthal Performing Arts Center. Proceeds will support projects by such organizations as the Carolina Raptor Center, Habitat for Humanity and the Uptown Shelter Medical Clinic. Belk also presented the event, which featured the clothes of New York designer Dana Buchman. Sue Melman was chairman and Myra Waits was co-chair. Club president is Laurie Cramer.

A celebration

The Sept. 23 black-tie preview party for the Symphony Guild ASID Designer House, "Celebration of New Beginnings," featured a trumpet fanfare by three Providence High School students, a cocktail reception, music by violinist Bob Ennis, and dinner and dancing. Mary Melberg was chairman of the gala.

Don Russell of MIX 104 gave commentary on Dillard's fashions during a Sept. 24 preview luncheon and fashion show. Mary Holloway was luncheon chairwoman.

The house supports guild projects such as the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra, the Charlotte Youth Symphony and the Charlotte Junior Youth Symphony. Susan Brackett is guild president. This year's house is at 1401 Dilworth Rd. Details: 554-6387, 9 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays.

Hats off

The Senior Women's Missionary Society of Greater Bethel AME Church presented its annual event, "An Afternoon of Elegance — A

Social notes

GIGI GUYTON

Hat Extravaganza," Sept. 26 in the Continental Ballroom of the Government House Hotel.

The society sponsored the fund-raiser to support the work of missions and a group program to assist battered women and children.

Featured hats for men and women were provided by Quille's Haberdashery, Hats by Barbara and Brady's Boutique. Greater Bethel is at 201 Grandin Rd.

Caribbean flavor

Caribbean themes were popular during the second annual "Cast of Characters Culinary Caravan" benefit for Theatre Charlotte. The event netted about $5,000 to cover operating expenses at the theater.

Hosts and hostesses across Charlotte sponsored dinner parties to benefit Theatre Charlotte. Participants then gathered at Theatre Charlotte for desserts, champagne punch, coffee and a cabaret show directed by Jim Sellers.

"A Caribbean Bar-be-faire," hosted by Sandy and Harold Carter and Norma and John Klutz, raised the most money. A party hosted by Art Bloomwell, Rodney McAllister and Mark McKnight had the largest attendance. Best costume awards went to McAllister and Louise Foltz.